County Commission choices

Ballot in the coming election features races in four of the commission's seven districts

Thursday, October 16, 2008

The seven members of the Clark County Commission establish the policies that are carried out by the county manager. Four of the districts have races this election and all are being contested.

We believe the following candidates are the most qualified:

Commissioner Tom Collins, a Democrat, is the superior candidate in District B. A five-term member of the state Assembly before joining the commission in 2005, he has a reputation for knowing his constituents and giving them a strong voice. The Sun endorses Tom Collins.
